RMHP Announces New Online Services for Members

Rocky Mountain Health Plans Members now have access to their personal health plan information and other new resources on our secure website, Access RMHP. With Access RMHP, Members can look up specific benefit information, claims, and authorizations for themselves and their children. They can also submit transactions to RMHP through this website including requesting an ID card, changing an address, and changing Primary Care Physicians, if one is required for their plan. Additionally, Members will now have the ability to link directly to Healthwise to get information on evidence-based medical information using the same search engine as WebMD.

Employees and spouses who are enrolled in an RMHP health plan will receive letters at their homes in February, introducing this new online service with instructions on how to register. Employer groups will also receive an announcement from us in advance of the employee mailing.

As always, if you have any questions or comments or need assistance, please call your Rocky Mountain Health Plans Account Executive.
